RBS/NatWest ipad service design project

Due to the agile nature of this project and the internal process, UX was documented mainly through rapid Axure RP prototyping and working directly on screen designs and flows in Sketch. The aim was to release the MVP as soon as possible to get real customer feedback and do quick iterations based on this insight.

Stakeholder feedback and insight from personal bankers were fed into the backlog and tweaks were incrementally introduced, there was a rapid push to release the product Asap.

I joined this project mid way, some of the UX was already in place, but I had to fill in the gaps and work on micro interactions, do alot of screen design and UX together.
